TALK OF NEW LEAGUE

SHENANDOAH FANS WANT TO SEE A BASE BALL GAME.

A FOUR TOWN LEAGUE

With Short Runs and Small Expenses—Creston Mentioned as Good Ball Town and May Come In.

Shenandoah and Clarinda are talking about base ball again, and are in favor of organizing a four-town league, to be composed of Maryville, Creston, Clarinda and Shenandoah. There are many fans in Maryville that would like to see a ball league as suggested organized.

The following article is from the Shenandoah Sentinel-Post of a recent issue:

Lovers of the great national pastime in this city have been like fish out of water this season because of no base ball games being played in this city. Why not have a base ball team in Shenandoah next year? It can be done and the fans want it. We believe the following plan would work out successfully:

In the first place, let us not pay as much money as it cost us in the Mink league. A four-team circuit could be organized with the following towns: Shenandoah, Clarinda, Creston and Maryville. If this circuit could be organized it would cut the traveling expenses almost in half. There would not be a long trip on the schedule. Maryville has already expressed willingness of joining a league of this kind, and we feel certain that the fans of Clarinda would be in on the deal. Creston ought to come in. It should be a good base ball town. A railroad town is very nearly always a base ball town.

The schedule could be arranged so that no town would be burdened with too many games a week. This would help the financial end of the deal. In the Mink league schedule of last season it was not uncommon for a team to be at home a week. This is too many games for a town of this size, as the interest dies out before the week is over and the latter part of the week is financially a loss.

There would be no use in paying the amount of money we paid for Mink league baseball. Cheaper players could be secured. It is true they might not put up as classy an article of ball as the Mink league, but it would be base ball, just the same, and the fan would take just as much interest in the race as if the teams were playing major league ball.

PLANS A DEAF MUTE COLONY.

O. M. Elliott, Formerly of Graham, Contemplates the Establishment of Such a Colony.

Oren M. Elliott, who a few years ago was publisher of the Graham Post, hopes to establish a deaf mute colony in Howell county for unfortunates like himself. The following is a dispatch in regard to it:

Oren M. Elliott, a graduate of the Missouri School for Deaf in Fulton, and now in the newspaper business at Lexington, Mo., contemplates the establishment of a colony of deaf mutes in Howell county.

Elliott is impressed with the beauties of the Missouri Ozarks and the advantages offered by portions of the state through which they rise, and impelled with a desire to do something for those who, like himself, are unfortunately physically imperfect.

Elliott, who is publisher of the Lexingtonian, a weekly newspaper in Lafayette county, a monthly periodical devoted to the interests of deaf mutes, which has a national circulation, has shown a marked preference for a location a few miles southeast of Koskionong.

He has purchased eighty acres in this fruit raising section and hopes to induce many others to become interested in the proposed colonization scheme.

Elliott started in the printing business when 7 years old. After serving his apprenticeship in various offices in the central section of Missouri he returned to his home and established a shop in his bedroom and published a magazine called The Eye, in the interest of deaf people. After running it about a year he moved to Maitland, Mo., and made his paper a bimonthly. He soon acquired the Post at Graham, Mo., and gave his first publication to a deaf printer at Omaha, Neb. After a while the Graham Post did not appeal to him and he leased it to a deaf printer from Arkansas, and the Silent Success, launched almost simultaneously with the acquisition of this plant, he gave to a mute of St. Louis.

VERY COMPLICATED

ARE THE AFFAIRS OF JOE YOUNGER, FORMERLY OF ELMO.

PROPERTY SOLD FOR $18

Because of Many Suits and Claims Against It—Included an Opera House, Town Lot, Etc.

A sheriff's sale was held Monday afternoon by Sheriff Tilson on the courthouse steps, the opera house of Elmo, one town lot and all right, title and interest to 129 shares of Joe Younger in the Elmo Improvement and Business company being sold to I. K. Alderman, attorney for Rockwell Bros., for $18. Many attorneys made announcements from the steps of the courthouse to the people in attendance at the sale, some saying that they had liens on the property, and one saying that if the property was bought the purchaser was buying a lawsuit.

The above property was sold in favor of Rockwell Bros. of Texas, and was the right, title, interest and claim of Joe Younger, who is well known to people of Elmo and over the county.

There are many complications in the affairs of Joe Younger, formerly of Elmo, but who is now in Canada. Younger writes that he is trying to make money so as to pay all his debts, which amount to something like $15,000.

The first step in Younger's financial career was to organize the Elmo Improvement and Trust company, engaging in a real estate and loan business. He conveyed certain town lots to the corporation, and had many debts of one kind and another. Another corporation was formed, called the Elmo Improvement and Business company, and his property was transferred from one to the other corporation.

Rockwell Bros. of Texas sued Younger personally and got judgment and execution on the property that he conveyed to the Elmo Improvement and Trust company.

Then the Nodaway Valley bank sued him and attached all this property as the property of Joe Younger and wife.

The Coin Lumber company filed a mechanic's lien on the electric light plant, that suit being against the Elmo Improvement and Trust company for an account for material furnished for the light plant.

The International Harvester company was next, and filed an interplea in the attachment suit filed by the Nodaway Valley bank against Joe Younger and wife, claiming that the engine and generator which were attached by the bank were under a chattel mortgage.

J. T. Fuqua had a second mortgage on the engine and generator in the light plant.

The Coin Lumber company is advertising a trustee's sale to sell the lot where the opera house is under a trust deed given by the Elmo Improvement and Trust company, and was one of the lots sold Monday by Sheriff Tilson for Rockwell Bros., as property of Joe Younger, and which is also attached by the Nodaway Valley bank as property of Joe Younger and wife.

O. A. Simmons of Atchison, Kan., who is represented by A. F. Harvey, claims to have deeds to all of Younger's property as a security for a loan of $7,500.

Simmons will be in the city in a few days and it is said will have a suit filed to combine all of the claims against Younger and his two corporations and settle title to property. The Younger property includes seven town lots, a residence property, an opera house building, an electric light plant, and two store buildings. Sheriff Tilson is running the electric light plant under an attachment by the Nodaway Valley bank, and says he is making a little over expenses.

It is a very complicated matter, and will be watched closely.

Excellent Crop Prospects Result From Recent Rains.

The rains of the last week will put late corn through with increasing yields all over Nodaway county. The farmers generally are jubilant over the corn prospects.

Oats made an extra good crop this season, the yield being upward of forty bushels an acre on most farms. The wheat was also a good crop with a yield of around thirty bushels for the county.

With a few more rains the corn will average more than it has for some time.

NEED CONSIDERATION.

The Normal Schools Should Be Considered as Much as Neglected Rural Schools.

One of the most urgent needs in the state-wide campaign for better schools in the rural districts is thoroughly trained teachers. Men and women especially drilled in the theory and practice of imparting knowledge and character are scarce in the state. Those who are proficient are to be found in the more prosperous localities, while in the rural districts the teachers are, in the main, graduates from the common grades and unskilled in teaching methods.

The Normal schools of the state need as much serious consideration as the neglected rural schools. It would be of little avail to construct modern school buildings for the rural communities and equip them with all the modern paraphernalia, and then send graduates from the Normal schools to teach them, when these graduates are lacking in many essentials because of inadequate or erratic financial support of the normal schools. Many normal school graduates filter into the rural schools as teachers.

It is more desirable that every teacher going into the rural districts should have been a graduate of the teachers' college at Columbia university. To make this the usual case instead of the exception, the school mill tax amendment must be carried at the November election. To get at the root of the school question the radical constitutional amendment is absolutely necessary. It provides for a fund that will give the state a perfect school system, constant in its operations.

ARRANGING THE PROGRAM.

The Odd Fellows' Conclave Picnic to Be Held in Maryville on September 2.

The committee arranging for the conclave of the Odd Fellows lodges of Nodaway, Gentry, Atchison and Holt counties, to be held in Maryville on Monday, September 2, is now busy at work preparing a program for the affair. Music will be given throughout the day by the Maryville Concert band and there will also be several selections of singing.

The committee is after a few concessions so as to entertain the big crowd that will be here. A free picture show will be given for the visitors appropriate to the occasion. It is expected that 5,000 people will be present to attend the conclave.

TO FIND BUYERS.

State Board of Horticulture to Help Apple Growers to Sell Their Crop.

The state board of horticulture expects to continue the work begun last year of helping apple growers to find buyers for their crop. Many growers were materially benefitted through the efforts of the board last year, although the work was taken up quite late in the autumn. It is the purpose of the board, through its secretary, to keep a list of all growers who desire assistance, and to try to induce buyers to go into those districts where apples are to be had.

Any grower who desires this aid has only to write to the secretary at Columbia, stating quality and number of barrels or acres he has for sale, and everything possible will be done to find a buyer for the crop. Those having small orchards are particularly urged to take advantage of this opportunity, as the only expense to them will be the cost of writing to the secretary's office.

AGREE UPON ONE BATTLESHIP

IDEA OF BUILDING SUPER-DREAD-NAUGHT DROPPED.

Conferees on Naval Appropriation Bill Provide for Vessel to Cost Not Over $15,000,000.

Washington, Aug. 20.—Conferees on the naval appropriation bill agreed to provide for one battle ship at a cost of not greater than $15,000,000. An appropriation of $2,535,000 is to be available for the beginning of the work. No agreement was reported as to size, dimensions or armament. The naval bill in other respects was adopted as approved by the previous conference and is now acceptable to house and senate.

The naval bill as agreed to also provides for eight submarines, the original number, six torpedo boats, two colliers and one machine ship. It was agreed that the new battle ship should not be a super-dreadnought, but a vessel of standard size.

A movement to name the new battle ship Constitution has been started. Under the law the secretary of navy would be obliged to christen the new ship Arizona or New Mexico, but the senate and house conferees will be urged to amend the bill with a provision that the new ship be named after "Old Ironsides." The bill as agreed upon also provides for a round-the-world wireless system.

The senate agreed with the house in leaving out the provision to limit tenure of office of civil service employees to seven years, to which the president also had objected.

THE TWO GREAT THINGS TO DO.

There are two great things to do. One is to set up the rule of justice and of right in such matters as the tariff, the regulation of the trusts and the prevention of monopoly, the adaptation of our banking and currency laws to the varied uses to which our people must put them, the treatment of those who do the daily labor in our factories and mines and throughout all our great industrial and commercial undertakings and the political life of the people of the Philippines, for whom we hold governmental power in trust, for their service, not our own. The other, the additional duty, is the great task of protecting our people and our resources and of keeping open to the whole people the doors of opportunity through which they must, generation by generation, pass if they are to make conquest of their fortunes in health, in freedom, in peace and in contentment. In the performance of this second great duty we are face to face with questions of conservation and of development, questions of forests and water power and mines and waterways, of the building of an adequate merchant marine and the opening of every highway and facility and the setting up of every safeguard needed by a great industrial, expanding nation.—From Woodrow Wilson's speech accepting the Democratic nomination.

CHARGES CRUELTY IN MISSOURI PEN

Kansas Prison Expert Says He Saw Men Tortured.

TWENTY HUNG UP BY WRISTS

Pronounced Institution Most Barbaric in Country With Two Exceptions—Andrae Says Statement is Absolutely False.

Columbia, Mo., Aug. 20.—Dr. Frank H. Loveland of Topeka, Kan., a prison expert, who has just arrived here after an inspection of Missouri's penitentiary at Jefferson City, pronounced that institution the most barbaric in the country with the possible exception of those of Nebraska and Georgia. Dr. Loveland has been a member of the prison congress for several years.

"Disgrace to the State." "The Missouri penitentiary is a disgrace to your state," he said. "It is a criminal breeder and a relic of the dark ages. While going through the prison I saw not less than 20 men hung up by their wrists, the blood streaming down their arms and their toes barely touch the floor."

"I was shocked and amazed that you Missourians look upon your penitentiary with a sort of dismal pride. With the exception of those in Georgia and Nebraska, the Missouri institution is the worst I have ever visited."

Warden Andrae Denies.

Jefferson City, Aug. 20.—Warden Henry Andrae denied that prisoners were harshly treated in the Missouri state penitentiary as indicated in an interview given by Dr. Frank H. Loveland of Topeka at Columbia, Mo. He said the whipping post and the water cure had long been abolished in the prison here.

"The charges of Dr. Loveland that he saw 20 men hung up by the wrists, are absolutely false," said Warden Andrae. "I do not believe that that many men have been punished in the last year. We sometimes put handcuffs on a prisoner's wrist and put his arms above his head, but always his feet are flat on the floor. The punishment is not at all severe."

SOUGHT MAYOR WITH A SHOTGUN

East St. Louis Editor Goes on War Path, Following Quarrel Over Newspaper Attack.

St. Louis, Aug. 20.—With a shotgun across his arm and threatening to "get" Mayor Charles S. Lambert, Alexander Flannigan, editor of a weekly paper which has been attacking the city administration viciously, patrolled Main street in East St. Louis, following an encounter with Lambert. The arm which held the gun was minus a sleeve, the city's executive having torn it off of the boat when he attempted to hold him "for a talk."

Flannigan's line of march was up and down in front of the police station and the city hall, into which building Lambert had gone after damaging Flannigan's attitude.

After several trips on the street Flannigan retired to his office, announcing that the shotgun hereafter could be kept loaded.

BURGLARS WRECKED BUILDINGS

Heavy Charge at May, Ok., Bank Defeated Robbers' Purpose—Bandits Escaped.

Wichita, Kan., Aug. 20.—Burglars blew open the safe of the May, Ok., state bank, putting in a charge of nitroglycerine that wrecked the bank building and blew out two walls of a two-story brick building adjoining, doing $2,000 worth of damage. Stacks of currency amounting to $10,000 was blown about the bank room and much of it ruined.

Silver and gold was scattered about and burned black. The blast awakened many residents, who frightened the robbers away.

John Holt, cashier of a Gage, Ok., bank, and Joe Barker, a friend who had stopped at May en route to Kansas in an automobile, joined the May police and exchanged many shots with the bandits, but the latter escaped.

Religious Press to Merge.

Baltimore, Aug. 20.—According to publishers of religious journals here, plans are under way for a million dollar merger of a large section of the denominational press. It is proposed to retire some papers now operating at a loss. Baltimore has been a center of religious publications and five journals are now issued here. The new syndicate, it is said, will have its headquarters in Chicago.

Stop Flights Over Paris.

Paris, Aug. 20.—Pilots of aeroplanes will hereafter be prohibited from flying over Paris, except at great heights, or from landing within the city's fortifications. Aeroplanes frequently fly over the crowded boulevards, only a short distance above the roofs of buildings, and if one were to fall many deaths would result.

The accident happened near the Carmichael farm, north of Maryville, as the injured boy and his sister, Hazel, 12 years old, were returning from a visit of three days to a brother at Wilcox.

Upon nearing the Carmichael farm the children discovered a couple of the brother's horses out in the road that had jumped out of the pasture. The boy tried to catch them and was kicked in the face. ## HOW ONE WOMAN WON

Her Health and Strength Back Again by The Use of Cardui.

Tampa, Fla.—In a letter from this city, Mrs. E. C. Corum writes: "I was all weakened and worn out with womanly troubles. My husband brought me some Cardui as a tonic, and, from the first day, it seemed to help."

I had almost lost my reason, but, thanks to Cardui, I did not. Soon, I felt and looked like a new woman. I think the remedy is wonderful. I recommend it to my friends, for I have received great benefit from it."

Cardui acts specifically on the weakened womanly organs, strengthening the muscles and nerves, and building them up to health.

It helps to refresh the worn-out nervous system and relieves the effects of overwork, both mental and physical.

Fifty years' successful use fully prove the merit of this purely vegetable, tonic remedy for women.

In every community, there live some who have been benefited by Cardui.

The beneficial effects of this time tested woman's remedy, soon show themselves in many different ways.

Try it.

N. B.—Write for Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn., for Special Instructions, and 64-page book, "Home Treatment for Women," sent in plain wrapper on request.

CANAL BILL MAY GO OVER

President Sends Special Message to Congress on Subject.

WOULD TEST FREE TOLL CLAUSE

Should Mr. Taft Veto Present Measure, Whole Matter Will be Delayed Till December Session.

Washington, Aug. 20.—President Taft closed a day of conferences on the Panama canal bill with a special message to congress suggesting the passage of legislation which would permit coastwise American ships to travel the canal toll free and which also would allow foreign nations to test the legality of this provision by suits in United States courts.

The president discussed the message with senators and members of the house and its wording was finally decided upon at a meeting of the cabinet which began at luncheon time and lasted until late in the afternoon. The message was read in congress soon afterwards and will be taken up immediately by committees of both houses.

Try to Please Taft.
It is the belief here that a determined effort will be made to meet the president's wishes although some leaders, particularly in the house, were inclined to believe that the message meant no further action in regard to the canal at the present session.

Mr. Taft explained that he was anxious to sign the present bill, but wished to assure other governments of the spirit of fairness of the United States.

The message, after being read in the house, was referred to the interstate commerce commission on motion of Underwood. That committee has adjourned for the session, and Chairman Underwood sought to have the bill left on the speaker's table, but the house immediately voted otherwise.

May Let it Drop.
"It's gone to bed so far as the house is concerned," was Mr. Adamson's remark. He added that he had not been able to command a quorum of his committee for the last three weeks.

There is no disposition on the part of the house leaders, so far as they would indicate to attempt to press a resolution of the character of that recommended by the president. There was an informal conference between Representative Sherley of Kentucky, who talked with the president on the subject, and others who have taken a prominent part in Panama legislation in the house. The sentiment expressed was that there would be no further legislation, and that if the president vetoed the bill the whole matter would go over to the December session of congress.

TRAIN STRUCK PICNIC PARTY

Four Women Killed and Two Injured When B. & O. Passenger Plowed Through Group.

Cumberland, Md., Aug. 20.—Four women were killed and two injured when a Baltimore & Ohio passenger train struck an outing party on the Western Maryland railway extension, one mile west of Frostburg station.

The young people were on an afternoon jaunt. They were walking toward Frostburg, returning home, on a curve with their backs toward the approaching train. A freight train had just passed on the westbound track. Engineer Cunningham of the passenger saw the danger and blew the whistle, but he was speeding about 30 miles an hour and his train was on the party before he could slow down. The engine pilot plowed into the party, mangling the bodies.

GERMANY TO PERMIT POLYGAMY

Rapidly Falling Birth Rate Gives Alarm and Colony is to be Tried as Remedy.

Jena, Germany, Aug. 20.—That polygamy alone can check a falling birth rate and regenerate the nation was resolved formally by the Mitler society, in convention here. The organization has considerable influence among German sociologists, eugenicists and a certain class of the scientists.

The society announced its intention of establishing a colony where polygamy will be practiced, as a means of proving its contention.

Sun Yat Sen Assassinated?

San Francisco, Aug. 20.—Rumors that Dr. Sun Yat Sen, first provisional president of China, had been assassinated in Peking by the soldiers of President Yuan Shi Kai caused wild excitement in Chinatown. They could be traced to no authentic source.

Senate Overrides Veto.

Washington, Aug. 20.—After a spirited debate the senate re-passed the vetoed legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, still carrying a provision for the abolition of the commerce court.

MISSING MAN WANDERED BACK

KANSAN WHO SUDDENLY DISAPPEARED RETURNS.

After Absence of Over Two Years Begs Food at Mother's Door—Did Not Know Her.

Pratt, Kan., Aug. 20.—Thomas Stubblefield, who mysteriously disappeared from this city in April, 1910, has been found. Stubblefield was a car repairer in the Rock Island shops here. At the time of his disappearance he was holding down a claim in Oklahoma near Texhoma. In April, 1910, he took a 10-day lay off and started for his claim. He got as far as Guymon, where he stayed all night with his brother-in-law. He took a freight train for Texhoma the next morning.

That was the last seen of him by his family until now. He came to his mother's front door in McDowell, Mo., and asked for something to eat. The mother recognized her son, but saw that he did not know her. She called Stubblefield's wife, who was living with a brother. When his wife and children arrived Stubblefield did not recognize them either.

Stubblefield can tell little of his experience the last two years. He remembers only of falling off a box car near Texhoma, but does not know when it was. He says that his name is not Stubblefield, but Colorado Pete and is offended if called by his right name. When he came to his mother's home he was without shoes, hat or coat. He said he had lost them while in swimming.

Stubblefield was a member of the Redmen and of the Carmen. Those orders spent several hundred dollars in trying to find him. Two men were sent to Texhoma, but found no trace of him. Then a reward was offered by the lodgers for any information leading to his discovery.

Committee Officially Notified Indiana's Governor of His Nomination for Vice-President.

Indianapolis, Aug. 20.—The news that he has been nominated for vice-president of the United States was officially broken to Gov. Thomas F. Marshall by Judge Alton B. Parker this afternoon. Samuel M. Raiston, Democratic candidate for governor, introduced Judge Parker as chairman of the notification committee.

All Democratic governors, state chairmen and national committeemen had been invited to attend the notification ceremonies and a large number were present. The program opened with a luncheon for the visitors at the Denison hotel at noon. At two o'clock they were taken to the state fair grounds, where the notification ceremonies took place. After delivering his speech of acceptance, Governor Marshall entertained the visitors at the Country club.

WATER WAGON SUPPLIED DRINKS

Big Parade of Catholic Societies at Louisville, Ky., Had Unique Feature.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 20.—An innovation in parades was started here with two dozen water wagons scattered in the pages of the American Federation of Catholic societies.

Many of the marchers used the water supply to keep wet handkerchiefs on their foreheads. There were several heat prostrations.

Kills Indian at Stomp Dance.

Sapulpa, Ok., Aug. 20.—In a drunken row at an Indian stomp dance near Bristow, 20 miles west of here, Abe Allen killed Ben Sharper with a large dirk. Allen was brought here. Both are Indians. Oklahoma officials say the stomp dance is a most dangerous amusement and the favorite places for whisky peddlers.

Two Killed in Caveln.

Burlington, Kan., Aug. 20.—When a trench they were digging for a bridge abutment caved in Charles C. Grimeley and W. P. Smith were instantly killed. The men were cousins and well known farmers. Others in the trench escaped.

MAY BE A CONTEST OVER NOMINATION

Missouri Primary Did Not Determine Supreme Court Candidates.

TIMMONDS AND BOND DISPUTE

Question Arises on Authority of Secretary of State to Compel Declaration Regarding Which Division Candidate Runs For.

Jefferson City, Aug. 20.—The possibility of a legal contest to determine whether Judge Henry C. Timmonds of Kansas City or Judge Henry W. Bond of St. Louis received the Democratic nomination for a seat on the supreme bench is causing a stir here among lawyers and politicians. Judge Bond appeared upon the official ballot as a candidate for division No. 1 and Judge Timmonds for Division No. 2. Judge Bond received 78,955 votes and Judge Timmonds 82,814, giving the latter a majority over Judge Bond of 3,859.

Fine Point of Law.

The point involved is the authority of the secretary of state to compel the candidates for judge of the supreme court to designate for which division they are candidates. Those who contend that the secretary of state does not possess this authority hold that the only act necessary by a candidate is to file his official announcement as a candidate for judge of the supreme court and that the arrangements of the divisions is not contemplated by the constitution, although usages in the past have recognized the divisions.

No Statute Covers the Case.

There is no specific statute covering this point nor any legal decisions. If a candidate for a seat upon the supreme court does not have to indicate the division for which he is an applicant it is plain Judge Timmonds was nominated. Otherwise it is equally plain that he was defeated as a candidate for judge of division No. 2 and that Judge Bond was nominated for division No. 1.

FURNISHED HOME BY STEALING

Kansan, About to Marry, Fell Into Clutches of Law Before Facing Altar.

Iola, Kan., Aug. 20.—Instead of being married happily to the girl to whom he was engaged, William W. Knight of Chanute is now in the Allen county jail.

Knight became a thief because his earnings would not permit him to furnish his home as quickly as he wished. Comforts, quilts, canned fruit, books, sacks of sugar and other supplies disappeared from Savonburg homes.

Knight lived in a house in which his bride and himself were to live. Officers visited the house and found many missing articles. They arrested Knight and he admitted the theft.

ALDERMAN EX-CONVICT GETS AID

Philadelphian Who Resigned Because of Blackmail to Go Into Business.

Philadelphia, Aug. 20.—William Burke, who resigned his seat in the city council, because he feared an ex-convict, who was in the Massachusetts penitentiary while he also was serving a sentence for robbery, has had an offer to return to Philadelphia and resume his old business, that of a cigar dealer.

A business man, deeply touched by Burke's story, will provide all necessary capital to put the man on his feet.

RIGHT PREVAILS IN THE END

Victory Sure, Though Its Coming May Be Delayed and Its Pathway Long Dark.

Await the issue. In all battles, if you await the issue, each fighter has prospered according to his right. He right and his might, at the close of the account, were one and the same. He has fought with all his might and in exact proportion to all his right he has prevailed. His very death is no victory over him. He dies, indeed; but his work lives, very truly lives.

A heroic Wallace, quartered on the scaffold, cannot hinder that his Scotland become, one day, a part of England; but he does hinder that it become, on tyrannous unfair terms, a part of it; commands still, as with a god's voice, from his old Valhalla and Temple of the Brave, that there be a just, real union, as of brother and brother, not a false and merely semblant one as of slave and master. If the union with England be in fact one of Scotland's chief blessings, we thank Wallace withal that it was not the chief curse. Scotland is not Ireland; no, because brave men rose there and said:

"Behold, ye must not tread us down like slaves; and ye shall not, and cannot!"

Fight on, thou grave, true heart, and falter not, through dark fortune and through bright. The cause thou fightest for, so far as it is true, no further, yet precisely so far, is very sure of victory. The falsehood alone of it will be conquered, will be abolished, as it ought to be; but the truth of it is part of Nature's own laws, co-operates with the world's eternal tendencies, and cannot be conquered.—Thomas Carlyle.

DROPPING THE ENGLISH "H."

Cockney Pronunciation Left the Traveler Puzzled Until He Interviewed the Captain.

In the days when packet ships ran between New York and London, a youthful passenger asked the English mate of the Christiana what there was in the leather tubing around the gunwales of the lifeboats.

"Hair, sir," he answered.

"Is there anything peculiarly buoyant about hair?" asked the American youth.

"If you don't know that, you don't know much," replied the mate, with a look of contempt, as he moved to another part of the ship.

The youth was humiliated, and a few days later asked the captain why hair was so buoyant in water. That authority replied that he didn't know that it was, and inquired why the youth thought it was so.

"Why, sir, your mate told me that there was hair in the tubes of the lifeboats to make them float when capsized."

"Ah!" answered the captain, laughing. "He's a Cockney; he means air."

Why the Football Squad Laughed.

Those who were there when this incident happened some twelve years ago never tire of telling the following yarn on I. I. Cammack, assistant superintendent of schools:

Professor Cammack was vice principal of the Central high school in 1900 or thereabouts and the athletic movement had led to the formation of a football squad. The ambitious were led to one of the study halls on a Friday afternoon, where Professor Cammack addressed them after this fashion:

"I am glad to see you boys here and pleased to notice that you are taking an interest in athletics. I think it is a fine thing to be interested in healthful sports. Football will give you confidence. We need boys and men of confidence in this country. In fact, I want to make confidence men out of all of you."

Perhaps the genial professor is wondering to this day why the football squad broke into loud laughter.—Kansas City Journal.

Hotel on an Obelisk.

We recently published the account of an excursion made by one of our reporters to the top of the Sugar Loaf, the gigantic obelisk, 300 meters in height, that overlooks the entrance of our beautiful bay. A Brazilian company is going to install on top of this almost inaccessible block of granite a handsomely equipped hotel, connected with one of the hills of Rio de Janeiro by an aerial railroad. The work will be pushed in all haste, and this marvelous height, bathed by the refreshing breezes of the open sea, should surely attract tourists from America and Europe.—Gazette de Noticias.

Latin and Saxon.

To the southerner divinity consists in the intensity and balance of all faculties, and the beauty of the flesh is part of it. We are apt to be unjust to his view of life because we know it best by its evil effects upon the northern mind, to which it is often poison. An Italianized Englishman is often a devil incarnate, because the southern view of life to him means only license. He adopts it without its conscience, and it appeals to his appetites rather than to his imagination.

How to Begin.

"What is the first step toward remedying the discontent of the masses?" "The first step," replied the energetic campaigner, "is to get out and make speeches to prove to them how discontented they are."—Washington Star.

STYLE and QUALITY.

Correct dressers naturally consider style first, as this feature is noticed and admired before others; but important as style is—Quality is really the basis of merit, and too often made a second consideration by the buying public. Clothes made to your individual demands will include both style and quality and they cost no more.

An Heirloom

By Martha McCulloch-Williams

(Copyright, 1912, by Associated Literary Press.)

"Blessed be hobbie skirts," Allison ejaculated, surveying her slim lithe-ness in the long mirror.

Rose, her sister, laughed softly, as she returned: "Better say blessed be flesh! If grandad hadn't weighed near three hundred, you'd never get a skirt out of his Sunday best black broadcloth trousers."

"Don't you dare! If one breathes real loud in this village folk are sure to hear," Allison adjured turning to look at herself over her own shoulder. "And the gossips would say sacrilege rather than thrift. I'm sure grandad himself would approve—dead this ten years, what harm can it do to have his left-over clothes help us round a hard corner?"

"None in the world," Rose assented merrily, adding with a touch of wisfulness: "It is so hard—our stock passing dividends, just at this special time. We could do so much with that five hundred we haven't got."

"And other people doing all sorts of things. This town is going to be real giddy," Allison answered, sighing at the end of a giggle. "Three weddings already announced—that means at least a dozen parties of sorts—luncheons not counted."

"And tableaux for the Missionary society, and two germans if no more," Rose chanted.

Allison took up the chant with, "And three strange—very strange—young men a-coming to the weddings—and likely to stay on awhile with their kin. Rosy-posy, I tell you, it's distinctly hard lines. A new party frock apiece is the most we dare hope for—and even they spell a month without butter. Praise be, you didn't make that new melton last fall—you would hardly have put it on, with Aunt Anne so ill. But whatever we would do if you hadn't thought of grandad, I surely don't know. Really, I believe, though it sounds like magic, I'll get a swaggar outfit from his suit."

"He wore it only once—poor dear," Rose sighed. "And he was always particular as to his clothing. I wish we dared spend a little for touches of color—though you can stand all black with your yellow hair and blue eyes. I hate to see you nun-like."

"Blessed Be Hobbie Skirts."

"O! if I only dare!" Allison exclaimed.

"Dare what?" Rose asked.

Allison nodded with a breathless giggle: "Sacrifice our best heirloom—but Aunt Anne will never agree—"

"You mean the waistcoat!" Rose cried, catching her breath.

Allison nodded. Rose darted away—up the stairs, to the garret where the waistcoat which had come down from a beau of colonial times, lay, linen-wrapped, in lavender. In a wink she was back with it, unwrapping the swathings. They fell apart, revealing a fabric of degree. Brocade whose satin ground, once a royal scarlet powdered with rosebuds yellow, white and pink, had faded to a soft delicate Indian red. Time had likewise improved the rose hues—they seemed to melt one into another. Allison gasped at the sight of the rich blendings. "It—it seems wicked—even to think of cutting it up," she said. "But O!—wouldn't it set off my black?"

"It shall set it off," Rose said stoutly. "Aunt Anne would never agree—her conscience wouldn't let her. But once the thing is done she'll be glad. I found her crying yesterday, over our bank account—she seems to feel it was her fault that things are as they are."

"Why! I do believe there's enough for a narrow panel besides revers and cuffs," Allison answered eagerly—she had been measuring the waistcoat while her sister spoke.

It was very long, and had been built for a man over six feet. It was neither frayed nor spotted and had still its full complement of carved rock-crystal buttons. No wonder Aunt Anne cherished it—it was all that had come down to her, in the division of ancestral treasures, from the most distinguished of her great-grandfathers.

Fate ordered it that she came through the door from the living room just as Allison, scissors in hand, made to begin snipping the fine hand-set stitches. She had slipped a kimono over the unfinished frock she had contrived—the short coat, which would be new and jaunty by and by, hung raw and limp over the back of a chair at her side. All about was the litter and disorder inevitable to close contriving. Rose stood gazing at her sister—both were too intent to note the opening door. Suddenly Allison's hand fell—she held the waistcoat away from her, saying in a choked voice: "Rose—take it—back. I—I—somehow I can't spill it—it feels as though it would be spiritual murder."

A hand fell upon Aunt Anne's shoulder—a soft hand, heavy with rings and only faintly wrinkled. It drew her back, leaving the door a little ajar. Very shortly the owner of it was saying, hushing Aunt Anne's sobs the while:

"To think you wouldn't come to me, your oldest friend. Anne dear, I'm ashamed of you—you know your girls feel almost as though they were mine. But your pride has had its reward. Not many girls under the conditions would forego as nobly as our Allison. Don't tell her and Rose we overheard—not yet, at least. It would hurt them to know we knew. But you are going to be sensible, and let me advance you those delayed dividends. Also, you are to remember, cabs are a wicked extravagance when one has friends with cars, and next to nobody to fill them."

At that Aunt Anne cried harder than ever, but after a little agreed meekly to do as her friend bade. The friend, Mrs. Norris Lane, a rich widow, childless, with two adored and adoring nephews, was unobtrusively, the great lady of Charlotte town.

Perhaps there was no direct sequence of events—but people began to notice early in the season that Lane Norris and Howard Lane, the great lady's nephews, were mighty attentive to the Agnew girls. Rose and Allison felt as if they had found a fairy godmother—all at once. Aunt Anne had ceased worrying—she had only smiled mysteriously, and told them things were not so bad as they had threatened to be. Then at Christmas she surprised each of them with a dainty new gown—to which Mrs. Lane had added all the other things—gloves, fan, slippers, silk stockings, and cobweb kerchief. Allison was not able to say thank you, for the lump in her throat. Even Rose had to turn away her eyes. And that night, hand in hand, they told Aunt Anne of their plotting—and what had withheld them from carrying it out. She patted their bent heads, saying as tears dropped upon Allison's bright hair:

"It would have been murder, dear children—murder of something in yourselves—reverence for family ties and traditions. I am glad indeed you made the blank frock—much better use the cloth than let moths ruin it in the end. But the waistcoat means something—it is a sort of patent of nobility. Only fine gentlemen wore such garments—"

"I know!" Rose broke in. "And we came near showing we didn't deserve to belong to him." Then the two ran away to make ready for a very late party. Aunt went, too. And as she came away she had the happiness of sealing with her approval a fouble betrothal.

REMAINS TRUE TO INSTINCT

True it is That a Sheep May Become a Wolf, but Never a Wolf Becomes Sheep.

One Sunday at the house of Anatole France, they were talking of the admirable romance he had just published. "The Gods are Thirsty," M. Paul Souday expressed in the warmest terms the enthusiasm with which this work had inspired him. Above all he vaunted the character of "Evariste Gamdin," whom a false revolutionary philanthropy had transformed from a bleating sheep to a devouring wolf.

A Russian lady, who was present, said she knew of wolves that had become sheep. "The Prince Troubetzkol," she said, "has two of them. He brought them from Russia. They had been tamed and he led them in a leash like greyhounds. You know that he is a vegetarian. He has imposed this diet upon his beasts. He feeds them vegetables and salads."

"In fact," then said Anatole France. "I met him the other day with his wolves of which you speak, in the street. He had stopped before a fruit stand and he was plundering a basket of carrots to regale his beasts."

"That is an excellent example for vegetarianism," said the lady. "Seduced by such an example, I acquired a wolf and fed him myself. But I feared that he would fade away. But as I did not intend to renounce my vegetarian ideas I continued to make him nibble fruits and roots in public while at home, secretly I gave him fresh meat. In this way I was able to keep him for some time. He died a while ago. I do not understand how Prince Troubetzkol succeeds in keeping his wolves. I suspect he employed the same method as myself."

In short," said Anatole France, "one often finds sheep that become wolves, but never wolves that become sheep." —Le Cri de Paris.

In Dreams. "I know Charley enjoyed being a delegate at the convention," said young Mrs. Torkins.

"How?" "I heard him talking in his sleep and some of the language he used was exactly the same as that which he employs at a baseball game."

ELEPHANT KEPT THEM AWAKE.

His Highness Got On a Rampage and a Good Many Thought Their Time Had Come.

The people of Clyde will not forget the circus they had last Friday night.

The elephant got miffed about something when he was brought into the ring to do his tricks, and his keeper had to take him out and put him up and give him peanuts and other good things to eat several times before he would go on with his stunts. Although he went through them all right, he was still mad when the show was out, and when the people saw the big fellow with heavy chains on and his feet chained to step only so far apart, it was indeed alarming.

The circus men stayed up all night with the burly, cross old fellow, and by morning had run many miles with him up and down Clyde's main street.

The negroes of the circus nearly wore themselves out singing songs to him, for that quieted and soothed his madness more than anything that was done.

A good many people in Clyde stayed up all night, too, for they did not know just how soon the beast might succeed in breaking his chains.

It's funny to stand off at this distance and think about those fellows singing the elephant into a good humor and the others running their legs off keeping up with him, but it wasn't funny then, as the Clyde people found out.

RUNAWAY VICTIMS BETTER.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan McQuinn Are Improving Nicely From Their Injuries.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan McQuinn of near Clyde, who were hurt Sunday morning about 10 o'clock, when their team upset their buggy, are getting along nicely.

Mrs. McQuinn was able to answer the phone call Tuesday, although she is suffering from a broken rib and bruises. Mr. McQuinn was able to be around about his farm duties, although he also has painful bruises.

Their 3-year-old son was only bruised a little and the other two children, 5 years and 6 months old, were not hurt.

BEST TO AVOID MUSHROOMS

Really Have Little Value as Sustenance and There is Always Danger of Poison.

There are in this country more than one hundred edible species of mushrooms. The popular distinction between mushroom and toadstool is one of name only. Many of the supposedly inferior specimens have proved on careful examination to be harmless, whereas some of those which bear an extremely close family resemblance to favored articles of diet are the carriers of danger in the form of exceedingly powerful poisons. Let him, therefore, who lacks the training requisite for the unfailing detection and identification of species carefully refrain from excursions into a field of uncertainty so fraught with danger.

Mushrooms form an unusually nutritious and sustaining diet. A well-known botanist says that mushrooms might properly be called vegetable meat and used as a substitute for animal food.

It is doubtful, however, if this is true.

The more we learn of mushrooms the more it becomes apparent that they are scarcely different as regards dietary virtues from the general run of the green vegetables which have never achieved the distinction of any unique or superior nutritive properties. They belong rather to that large group of food materials which we consume for reasons quite apart from the body.

HONEYED WORDS IN TUBES

How the Modern Spanish Swain Finds a Way to Overcome Serious Obstacles.

In Spain, as is well known, a vigorous etiquette governs the business of love-making. A young man cannot interview his sweetheart without her parents' consent, and, indeed, all conversation openly carried on between the couple must be in the presence of the fair one's mother.

Many subterfuges are adopted by the lovers to overcome this difficulty, and the "reja"—the ornamental iron-work on the windows of Spanish houses—has become one of the favorite trying places. Modern life, however, has imposed fresh barriers. If a young man's sweetheart lives on the third floor of a city building he cannot very well meet her at the "reja."

In this, as in other spheres of life, necessity is the mother of invention. London answers remarks, and some ardent lovers have brought speaking tubes to their assistance. The seniors, at the appointed hour, lowers this to her lover, and they are thus able to carry on their love affairs with the assurance that they are not overheard by the people on the intervening flats, as would be the case if the conversation were carried on without such aid.

TALK OF NEW LEAGUE

SHENANDOAH FANS WANT TO SEE A BASE BALL GAME.

A FOUR TOWN LEAGUE

With Short Runs and Small Expenses—Creston Mentioned as Good Ball Town and May Come In.

Shenandoah and Clarinda are talking about base ball again, and are in favor of organizing a four-town league, to be composed of Maryville, Creston, Clarinda and Shenandoah. There are many fans in Maryville that would like to see a ball league as suggested organized.

The following article is from the Shenandoah Sentinel-Post of a recent issue:

Lovers of the great national pastime in this city have been like fish out of water this season because of no base ball games being played in this city. Why not have a base ball team in Shenandoah next year? It can be done and the fans want it. We believe the following plan would work out successfully:

In the first place, let us not pay as much money as it cost us in the Mink league. A four-team circuit could be organized with the following towns: Shenandoah, Clarinda, Creston and Maryville. If this circuit could be organized it would cut the traveling expenses almost in half. There would not be a long trip on the schedule. Maryville has already expressed willingness of joining a league of this kind, and we feel certain that the fans of Clarinda would be in on the deal. Creston ought to come in. It should be a good base ball town. A railroad town is very nearly always a base ball town.

The schedule could be arranged so that no town would be burdened with too many games a week. This would help the financial end of the deal. In the Mink league schedule of last season it was not uncommon for a team to be at home a week. This is too many games for a town of this size, as the interest dies out before the week is over and the latter part of the week is financially a loss.

There would be no use in paying the amount of money we paid for Mink league baseball. Cheaper players could be secured. It is true they might not put up as classy an article of ball as the Mink league, but it would be base ball, just the same, and the fan would take just as much interest in the race as if the teams were playing major league ball.

PLANS A DEAF MUTE COLONY.

O. M. Elliott, Formerly of Graham, Contemplates the Establishment of Such a Colony.

Oren M. Elliott, who a few years ago was publisher of the Graham Post, hopes to establish a deaf mute colony in Howell county for unfortunates like himself. The following is a dispatch in regard to it:

Oren M. Elliott, a graduate of the Missouri School for Deaf in Fulton, and now in the newspaper business at Lexington, Mo., contemplates the establishment of a colony of deaf mutes in Howell county.

Elliott is impressed with the beauties of the Missouri Ozarks and the advantages offered by portions of the state through which they rise, and impelled with a desire to do something for those who, like himself, are unfortunately physically imperfect.

Elliott, who is publisher of the Lexingtonian, a weekly newspaper in Lafayette county, a monthly periodical devoted to the interests of deaf mutes, which has a national circulation, has shown a marked preference for a location a few miles southeast of Koskionong.

He has purchased eighty acres in this fruit raising section and hopes to induce many others to become interested in the proposed colonization scheme.

Elliott started in the printing business when 7 years old. After serving his apprenticeship in various offices in the central section of Missouri he returned to his home and established a shop in his bedroom and published a magazine called The Eye, in the interest of deaf people. After running it about a year he moved to Maitland, Mo., and made his paper a bimonthly. He soon acquired the Post at Graham, Mo., and gave his first publication to a deaf printer at Omaha, Neb. After a while the Graham Post did not appeal to him and he leased it to a deaf printer from Arkansas, and the Silent Success, launched almost simultaneously with the acquisition of this plant, he gave to a mute of St. Louis.

VERY COMPLICATED L. C. COOK SELECTED

ARE THE AFFAIRS OF JOE YOUNGER, FORMERLY OF ELMO.

PROPERTY SOLD FOR $18

Because of Many Suits and Claims Against It—Included an Opera House, Town Lot, Etc.

A sheriff's sale was held Monday afternoon by Sheriff Tilson on the courthouse steps, the opera house of Elmo, one town lot and all right, title and interest to 120 shares of Joe Younger in the Elmo Improvement and Business company being sold to L. K. Alderman, attorney for Rockwell Bros., for $18. Many attorneys made announcements from the steps of the courthouse to the people in attendance at the sale, some saying that they had liens on the property, and one saying that if the property was bought the purchaser was buying a lawsuit.

The above property was sold in favor of Rockwell Bros. of Texas, and was the right, title, interest and claim of Joe Younger, who is well known to people of Elmo and over the county.

There are many complications in the affairs of Joe Younger, formerly of Elmo, but who is now in Canada. Younger writes that he is trying to make money so as to pay all his debts, which amount to something like $15,000.

The first step in Younger's financial career was to organize the Elmo Improvement and Trust company, engaging in a real estate and loan business. He conveyed certain town lots to the corporation, and had many debts of one kind and another. Another corporation was formed, called the Elmo Improvement and Business company, and his property was transferred from one to the other corporation.

Rockwell Bros. of Texas sued Younger personally and got judgment and execution on the property that he conveyed to the Elmo Improvement and Trust company.

Then the Nodaway Valley bank sued him and attached all this property as the property of Joe Younger and wife.

The Coin Lumber company filed a mechanic's lien on the electric light plant, that suit being against the Elmo Improvement and Trust company for an account for material furnished for the light plant.

The International Harvester company was next, and filed an interplea in the attachment suit filed by the Nodaway Valley bank against Joe Younger and wife, claiming that the engine and generator which were attached by the bank were under a chattel mortgage.

J. T. Fuqua had a second mortgage on the engine and generator in the light plant.

The Coin Lumber company is advertising a trustee's sale to sell the lot where the opera house is under a trust deed given by the Elmo Improvement and Trust company, and was one of the lots sold Monday by Sheriff Tilson for Rockwell Bros., as property of Joe Younger, and which is also attached by the Nodaway Valley bank as property of Joe Younger and wife.

O. A. Simmons of Atchison, Kan., who is represented by A. F. Harvey, claims to have deeds to all of Younger's property as a security for a loan of $7,500.

Simmons will be in the city in a few days and it is said will have a suit filed to combine all of the claims against Younger and his two corporations and settle title to property. The Younger property includes seven town lots, a residence property, an opera house building, an electric light plant, and two store buildings. Sheriff Tilson is running the electric light plant under an attachment by the Nodaway Valley bank, and says he is making a little over expenses.

It is a very complicated matter, and will be watched closely.

Mr. Cook and Mr. Allen, who were selected this afternoon, will succeed J. W. Farley of Platte county and James Todd of this city. Mr. Todd not being an applicant for the position again.

ATTEND CONGRESSIONAL MEET.

Several From Maryville in St. Joseph Tuesday—To Select Members of the State Committee.

Mr. Dawson is a member of the Democratic congressional committee, which will meet this afternoon to select two members of the state committee and to perfect an organization. Mr. Phares is the member of the Republican committee, and they will also select two members of the Republican state committee.

CORN GOOD.

Excellent Crop Prospects Result From Recent Rains.

The rains of the last week will put late corn through with increasing yields all over Nodaway county. The farmers generally are jubilant over the corn prospects.

Oats made an extra good crop this season, the yield being upward of forty bushels an acre on most farms. The wheat was also a good crop with a yield of around thirty bushels for the county.

Corn everywhere is promising an extra good crop. The corn is clean and is a good stand everywhere.

With a few more rains the corn will average more than it has for some time.

NEED CONSIDERATION.

The Normal Schools Should Be Considered as Much as Neglected Rural Schools.

One of the most urgent needs in the state-wide campaign for better schools in the rural districts is thoroughly trained teachers. Men and women especially drilled in the theory and practice of imparting knowledge and character are scarce in the state. Those who are proficient are to be found in the more prosperous localities, while in the rural districts the teachers are, in the main, graduates from the common grades and unskilled in teaching methods.

The Normal schools of the state need as much serious consideration as the neglected rural schools. It would be of little avail to construct modern school buildings for the rural communities and equip them with all the modern paraphernalia, and then send graduates from the Normal schools to teach them, when these graduates are lacking in many essentials because of inadequate or erratic financial support of the normal schools. Many normal school graduates filter into the rural schools as teachers.

It is more desirable that every teacher going into the rural districts should have been a graduate of the teachers' college at Columbia university. To make this the usual case instead of the exception, the school mill tax amendment must be carried at the November election. To get at the root of the school question the radical constitutional amendment is absolutely necessary. It provides for a fund that will give the state a perfect school system, constant in its operations.

ARRANGING THE PROGRAM.

The Odd Fellows' Conclave Picnic to Be Held in Maryville on September 2.

The committee arranging for the conclave of the Odd Fellows lodges of Nodaway, Gentry, Atchison and Holt counties, to be held in Maryville on Monday, September 2, is now busily at work preparing a program for the affair. The grand master, Mr. Stirling, will be unable to attend, but Grand Secretary J. W. Wilkerson and A. M. Dockery will be here and will deliver talks. Music will be given throughout the day by the Maryville Concert band and there will also be several selections of singing.

The committee is after a few concessions so as to entertain the big crowd that will be here. A free picture show will be given for the visitors appropriate to the occasion. It is expected that 5,000 people will be present to attend the conclave.

The conclave committee of the local lodge of Odd Fellows that is preparing the program is composed of the following: Chester Bennett, chairman; W. C. Irwin, E. F. Welborn, J. B. Moore, F. E. Orcutt, H. C. Smith and Eugene Rathbun.

TO FIND BUYERS.

State Board of Horticulture to Help Apple Growers to Sell Their Crop.

The state board of horticulture expects to continue the work begun last year of helping apple growers to find buyers for their crop. Many growers were materially benefitted through the efforts of the board last year, although the work was taken up quite late in the autumn. It is the purpose of the board, through its secretary, to keep a list of all growers who desire assistance, and to try to induce buyers to go into those districts where apples are to be had.

Any grower who desires this aid has only to write to the secretary at Columbia, stating quality and number of barrels or acres he has for sale, and everything possible will be done to find a buyer for the crop. Those having small orchards are particularly urged to take advantage of this opportunity, as the only expense to them will be the cost of writing to the secretary's office.

AGREE UPON ONE BATTLESHIP

IDEA OF BUILDING SUPER-DREADNAUGHT DROPPED.

Conferees on Naval Appropriation Bill Provide for Vessel to Cost Not Over $15,000,000.

Washington, Aug. 20.—Conferees on the naval appropriation bill agreed to provide for one battle ship at a cost of not greater than $15,000,000. An appropriation of $2,535,000 is to be available for the beginning of the work. No agreement was reported as to size, dimensions or armament. The naval bill in other respects was adopted as approved by the previous conference and is now acceptable to house and senate.

The naval bill as agreed to also provides for eight submarines, the original number, six torpedo boats, two cocklers and one machine ship. It was agreed that the new battle ship should not be a super-dreadnought, but a vessel of standard size.

A movement to name the new battle ship Constitution has been started. Under the law the secretary of navy would be obliged to christen the new ship Arizona or New Mexico, but the senate and house conferees will be urged to amend the bill with a provision that the new ship be named after "Old Ironsides." The bill as agreed upon also provides for a round-the-world wireless system.

The senate agreed with the house in leaving out the provision to limit tenure of office of civil service employees to seven years, to which the president also had objected.

THE TWO GREAT THINGS TO DO.

There are two great things to do. One is to set up the rule of justice and of right in such matters as the tariff, the regulation of the trusts and the prevention of monopoly, the adaptation of our banking and currency laws to the varied uses to which our people must put them, the treatment of those who do the daily labor in our factories and mines and throughout all our great industrial and commercial undertakings and the political life of the people of the Philippines, for whom we hold governmental power in trust, for their service, not our own. The other, the additional duty, is the great task of protecting our people and our resources and of keeping open to the whole people the doors of opportunity through which they must, generation by generation, pass if they are to make conquest of their fortunes in health, in freedom, in peace and in contentment. In the performance of this second great duty we are face to face with questions of conservation and of development, questions of forests and water power and mines and waterways, of the building of an adequate merchant marine and the opening of every highway and facility and the setting up of every safeguard needed by a great industrial, expanding nation.—From Woodrow Wilson's speech accepting the Democratic nomination.

CHARGES CRUELTY IN MISSOURI PEN

Kansas Prison Expert Says He Saw Men Tortured.

TWENTY HUNG UP BY WRISTS

Pronounced institution Most Barbaric in Country With Two Exceptions—Andrae Says Statement is Absolutely False.

Columbia, Mo., Aug. 20.—Dr. Frank H. Loveland of Topeka, Kan., a prison expert, who has just arrived here after an inspection of Missouri's penitentiary at Jefferson City, pronounced that institution the most barbaric in the country with the possible exception of those of Nebraska and Georgia. Dr. Loveland has been a member of the prison congress for several years.

"Disgrace to the State," "The Missouri penitentiary is a disgrace to your state," he said. "It is a criminal breeder and a relic of the dark ages. While going through the prison I saw not less than 20 men hung up by their wrists, the blood streaming down their arms and their toes barely touch the floor."

"I was shocked and amazed that you Missourians look upon your penitentiary with a sort of dismal pride. With the exception of those in Georgia and Nebraska, the Missouri institution is the worst I have ever visited."

Warden Andrae Denies.

Jefferson City, Aug. 20.—Warden Henry Andrae denied that prisoners were harshly treated in the Missouri state penitentiary as indicated in an interview given by Dr. Frank H. Loveland of Topeka at Columbia, Mo. He said the whipping post and the water cure had long been abolished in the prison here.

"The charges of Dr. Loveland that he saw 20 men hung up by the wrists, are absolutely false," said Warden Andrae. "I do not believe that that many men have been punished in the last year. We sometimes put handcuffs on a prisoner's wrist and put his arms above his head, but always his feet are flat on the floor. The punishment is not at all severe."

SOUGHT MAYOR WITH A SHOTGUN

East St. Louis Editor Goes on War Path, Following Quarrel Over Newspaper Attack.

St. Louis, Aug. 20.—With a shotgun across his arm and threatening to "get" Mayor Charles S. Lambert, Alexander Flannigen, editor of a weekly paper which has been attacking the city administration viciously, patrolled Main street in East St. Louis, following an encounter with Lambert. The arm which held the gun was minus a sleeve, the city's executive having torn it off of the man when he attempted to hold him "for a talk."

Flannigen's line of march was up and down in front of the police station and the city hall, into which building Lambert had gone after damaging Flannigen's attire. After several trips on the street Flannigen retired to his office, announcing that the shotgun hereafter could be kept loaded.

BURGLARS WRECKED BUILDINGS

Heavy Charge at May, Ok., Bank Defeated Robbers' Purpose—Bandits Escaped.

Wichita, Kan., Aug. 20.—Burglars blew open the safe of the May, Ok., state bank, putting in a charge of nitroglycerine that wrecked the bank building and blew out two walls of a two-story brick building adjoining, doing $2,000 worth of damage. Stacks of currency amounting to $10,000 was blown about the bank room and much of it ruined.

Silver and gold was scattered about and burned black. The blast awakened many residents, who frightened the robbers away.

John Holt, cashier of a Gage, Ok., bank, and Joe Barker, a friend who had stopped at May en route to Kansas in an automobile, joined the May police and exchanged many shots with the bandits, but the latter escaped.

The new syndicate, it is said, will have its headquarters in Chicago.

The accident happened near the Carmichael farm, north of Maryville, as the injured boy and his sister, Hazel, 12 years old, were returning from a visit of three days to a brother at Wilcox.

Upon hearing the Carmichael farm the children discovered a couple of the brother's horses out in the road that had jumped out of the pasture. The boy tried to catch them and was kicked in the face. The sister drove to the Carmichael farm with the boy, from where medical aid was summoned. Dr. William Wallis, Jr., of this city responded to the call and took three stitches in the boy's face. ## HOW ONE WOMAN WON

Her Health and Strength Back Again by The Use of Cardui.

Tampa, Fla.—In a letter from this city, Mrs. E. C. Corum writes: "I was all weakened and worn out with womanly troubles. My husband brought me some Cardui as a tonic, and, from the first day, it seemed to help."

I had almost lost my reason, but, thanks to Cardui, I did not. Soon, I felt and looked like a new woman. I think the remedy is wonderful. I recommend it to my friends, for I have received great benefit from it."

Cardui acts specifically on the weakened womanly organs, strengthening the muscles and nerves, and building them up to health.

It helps to refresh the worn-out nervous system and relieves the effects of overwork, both mental and physical.

Fifty years' successful use fully prove the merit of this purely vegetable, tonic remedy for women.

In every community, there live some who have been benefited by Cardui.

The beneficial effects of this time tested woman's remedy, soon show themselves in many different ways. Try it.

N. B.—Write for Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn., for Special Instructions, and 64-page book, "Home Treatment for Women," sent in plain wrapper on request.

CANAL BILL MAY GO OVER

President Sends Special Message to Congress on Subject.

WOULD TEST FREE TOLL CLAUSE

Should Mr. Taft Veto Present Measure, Whole Matter Will be Delayed Till December Session.

Washington, Aug. 20.—President Taft closed a day of conferences on the Panama canal bill with a special message to congress suggesting the passage of legislation which would permit coastwise American ships to travel the canal toll free and which also would allow foreign nations to test the legality of this provision by suits in United States courts.

The president discussed the message with senators and members of the house and its wording was finally decided upon at a meeting of the cabinet which began at luncheon time and lasted until late in the afternoon. The message was read in congress soon afterwards and will be taken up immediately by committees of both houses.

Try to Please Taft.

It is the belief here that a determined effort will be made to meet the president's wishes although some leaders, particularly in the house, were inclined to believe that the message meant no further action in regard to the canal at the present session.

Mr. Taft explained that he was anxious to sign the present bill, but wished to assure other governments of the spirit of fairness of the United States.

The message, after being read in the house, was referred to the interstate commerce commission on motion of Underwood. That committee has adjourned for the session, and Chairman Underwood sought to have the bill left on the speaker's table, but the house immediately voted otherwise.

May Let It Drop.

"It's gone to bed so far as the house is concerned," was Mr. Adamson's remark. He added that he had not been able to command a quorum of his committee for the last three weeks.

There is no disposition on the part of the house leaders, so far as they would indicate to attempt to press a resolution of the character of that recommended by the president. There was an informal conference between Representative Sherley of Kentucky, who talked with the president on the subject, and others who have taken a prominent part in Panama legislation in the house. The sentiment expressed was that there would be no further legislation, and that if the president vetoed the bill the whole matter would go over to the December session of congress.

TRAIN STRUCK PICNIC PARTY

Four Women Killed and Two Injured When B. & O. Passenger Plowed Through Group.

Cumberland, Md., Aug. 20.—Four women were killed and two injured when a Baltimore & Ohio passenger train struck an outing party on the Western Maryland railway extension, one mile west of Frostburg station.

The young people were on an afternoon jaunt. They were walking toward Frostburg, returning home, on a curve with their backs toward the approaching train. A freight train had just passed on the westbound track.

Engineer Cunningham of the passenger saw the danger and blew the whistle, but he was speeding about 30 miles an hour and his train was on the party before he could slow down. The engine plowed into the party, mangling the bodies.

GERMANY TO PERMIT POLYGAMY

Rapidly Falling Birth Rate Gives Alarm and Colony is to be Tried as Remedy.

Jena, Germany, Aug. 20.—That polygamy alone can check a falling birth rate and regenerate the nation was resolved formally by the Mitler society, in convention here. The organization has considerable influence among German sociologists, eugenicists and a certain class of the scientists.

The society announced its intention of establishing a colony where polygamy will be practiced, as a means of proving its contention.

Sun Yat Sen Assassinated?

San Francisco, Aug. 20.—Rumors that Dr. Sun Yat Sen, first provisional president of China, had been assassinated in Peking by the soldiers of President Yuan Shi Kai caused wild excitement in Chinatown. They could be traced to no authentic source.

Senate Overrides Veto.

Washington, Aug. 20.—After a spirited debate the senate re-passed the vetoed legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, still carrying a provision for the abolition of the commerce court.

MISSING MAN WANDERED BACK

KANSAN WHO SUDDENLY DISAPPEARED RETURNS.

After Absence of Over Two Years Begs Food at Mother's Door—Did Not Know Her.

Pratt, Kan., Aug. 20.—Thomas Stubblefield, who mysteriously disappeared from this city in April, 1910, has been found. Stubblefield was a car repairer in the Rock Island shops here. At the time of his disappearance he was holding down a claim in Oklahoma near Texhoma. In April, 1910, he took a 10-day lay off and started for his claim. He got as far as Guymon, where he stayed all night with his brother-in-law. He took a freight train for Texhoma the next morning.

That was the last seen of him by his family until now. He came to his mother's front door in McDowell, Mo., and asked for something to eat. The mother recognized her son, but said that he did not know her. She called Stubblefield's wife, who was living with a brother. When his wife and children arrived Stubblefield did not recognize them either.

Stubblefield can tell little of his experience the last two years. He remembers only of falling off a box car near Texhoma, but does not know when it was. He says that his name is not Stubblefield, but Colorado Pete and is offended if called by his right name. When he came to his mother's home he was without shoes, hat or coat. He said he had lost them while in swimming.

Stubblefield was a member of the Redmen and of the Carmen. Those orders spent several hundred dollars in trying to find him. Two men were sent to Texhoma, but found no trace of him. Then a reward was offered by the lodgers for any information leading to his discovery.

BROKE THE "NEWS" TO MARSHALL

Committee Officially Notified Indiana's Governor of His Nomination for Vice-President.

Indianapolis, Aug. 20.—The news that he has been nominated for vice-president of the United States was officially broken to Gov. Thomas F. Marshall by Judge Abner B. Parker this afternoon. Samuel M. Raiston, Democratic candidate for governor, introduced Judge Parker as chairman of the notification committee.

All Democratic governors, state chairmen and national committeemen had been invited to attend the notification ceremonies and a large number were present. The program opened with a luncheon for the visitors at the Denison hotel at noon. At two o'clock they were taken to the state fair grounds, where the notification ceremonies took place. After delivering his speech of acceptance, Governor Marshall entertained the visitors at the Country club.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 20.—An innovation in parades was started here with two dozen water wagons scattered in the pages of the American Federation of Catholic societies.

Many of the marchers used the water supply to keep wet handkerchiefs on their foreheads. There were several heat prostrations.

Kills Indian at Stomp Dance.

Sapulpa, Ok., Aug. 20.—In a drunken row at an Indian stomp dance near Bristow, 20 miles west of here, Abe Allen killed Ben Sharper with a large dirk. Allen was brought here. Both are Indians. Oklahoma officials say the stomp dance is a most dangerous amusement and the favorite places for whisky peddlers.

MAY BE A CONTEST OVER NOMINATION

Missouri Primary Did Not Determine Supreme Court Candidates.

TIMMONDS AND BOND DISPUTE

Question Arises on Authority of Secretary of State to Compel Declaration Regarding Which Division Candidate Runs For.

Jefferson City, Aug. 20.—The possibility of a legal contest to determine whether Judge Henry C. Timmonds of Kansas City or Judge Henry W. Bond of St. Louis received the Democratic nomination for a seat on the supreme bench is causing a stir here among lawyers and politicians. Judge Bond appeared upon the official ballot as a candidate for division No. 1 and Judge Timmonds for Division No. 2. Judge Bond received 78,985 votes and Judge Timmonds 82,814, giving the latter a majority over Judge Bond of 3,829.

Fine Point of Law.

The point involved is the authority of the secretary of state to compel the candidates for judge of the supreme court to designate for which division they are candidates. Those who contend that the secretary of state does not possess this authority hold that the only act necessary by a candidate is to file his official announcement as a candidate for judge of the supreme court and that the arrangements of the divisions is not contemplated by the constitution, although usages in the past have recognized the divisions.

No Statute Covers the Case.

There is no specific statute covering this point nor any legal decisions. If a candidate for a seat upon the supreme court does not have to indicate the division for which he is an applicant it is plain Judge Timmonds was nominated. Otherwise it is equally plain that he was defeated as a candidate for judge of division No. 2 and that Judge Bond was nominated for division No. 1.

FURNISHED HOME BY STEALING

Kansan, About to Marry, Fell Into Clutches of Law Before Facing Altar.

Iola, Kan., Aug. 20.—Instead of being married happily to the girl to whom he was engaged, William W. Knight of Chanute is now in the Allen county jail.

Knight became a thief because his earnings would not permit him to furnish his home as quickly as he wished. Comforts, quilts, canned fruit, books, sacks of sugar and other supplies disappeared from Savonburg homes.

Knight lived in a house in which his bride and himself were to live. Officers visited the house and found many missing articles. They arrested Knight and he admitted the theft.

RIGHT PREVAILS IN THE END

Victory Sure, Though Its Coming May Be Delayed and Its Pathway Long Dark.

Await the issue. In all battles, if you await the issue, each fighter has prospered according to his right. He right and his might, at the close of the account, were one and the same. He has fought with all his might and in exact proportion to all his right he has prevailed. His very death is no victory over him. He dies, indeed; but his work lives, very truly lives. A heroic Wallace, quartered on the scaffold, cannot hinder that his Scotland become, one day, a part of England; but he does hinder that it become, on tyrannous unfair terms, a part of it; commands still, as with a god's voice, from his old Valhalla and Temple of the Brave, that there be a just, real union, as of brother and brother, not a false and merely semblant one as of slave and master. If the union with England be in fact one of Scotland's chief blessings, we thank Wallace withal that it was not the chief curse. Scotland is not Ireland; no, because brave men rose there and said:

"Behold, ye must not tread us down like slaves; and ye shall not, and cannot!"

Fight on, thou grave, true heart, and falter not, through dark fortune and through bright. The cause thou fightest for, so far as it is true, no further, yet precisely so far, is very sure of victory. The falsehood alone of it will be conquered, will be abolished, as it ought to be; but the truth of it is part of Nature's own laws, co-operates with the world's eternal tendencies, and cannot be conquered.—Thomas Carlyle.

DROPPING THE ENGLISH "H."

Cockney Pronunciation Left the Traveler Puzzled Until He Interviewed the Captain.

In the days when packet ships ran between New York and London, a youthful passenger asked the English mate of the Christiana what there was in the leather tubing around the gunwales of the lifeboats.

"Hair, sir," he answered.

"Is there anything peculiarly buoyant about hair?" asked the American youth.

"If you don't know that, you don't know much," replied the mate, with a look of contempt, as he moved to another part of the ship.

The youth was humiliated, and a few days later asked the captain why hair was so buoyant in water. That authority replied that he didn't know that it was, and inquired why the youth thought it was so.

"Why, sir, your mate told me that there was hair in the tubes of the lifeboats to make them float when capsized."

"Ah!" answered the captain, laughing. "He's a Cockney; he means air."

Why the Football Squad Laughed.

Those who were there when this incident happened some twelve years ago never tire of telling the following yarn on I. I. Cammack, assistant superintendent of schools:

Professor Cammack was vice principal of the Central high school in 1900 or thereabouts and the athletic movement had led to the formation of a football squad. The ambitious were led to one of the study halls on a Friday afternoon, where Professor Cammack addressed them after this fashion:

"I am glad to see you boys here and pleased to notice that you are taking an interest in athletics. I think it is a fine thing to be interested in healthful sports. Football will give you confidence. We need boys and men of confidence in this country. In fact, I want to make confidence men out of all of you."

Perhaps the genial professor is wondering to this day why the football squad broke into loud laughter.—Kansas City Journal.

Hotel on an Obelisk.

We recently published the account of an excursion made by one of our reporters to the top of the Sugar Loaf, the gigantic obelisk, 300 meters in height, that overlooks the entrance of our beautiful bay. A Brazilian company is going to install on top of this almost inaccessible block of granite a handsomely equipped hotel, connected with one of the hills of Rio de Janeiro by an aerial railroad. The work will be pushed in all haste, and this marvelous height, bathed by the refreshing breezes of the open sea, should surely attract tourists from America and Europe.—Gazette de Noticias.

Latin and Saxon.

To the southerner divinity consists in the intensity and balance of all faculties, and the beauty of the flesh is part of it. We are apt to be unjust to his view of life because we know it best by its evil effects upon the northern mind, to which it is often poison. An Italianized Englishman is often a devil incarnate, because the the southern view of life to him means only license. He adopts it without its conscience, and it appeals to his appetites rather than to his imagination.

How to Begin.

"What is the first step toward remedying the discontent of the masses?" "The first step," replied the energetic campaigner, "is to get out and make speeches to prove to them how discontented they are."—Washington Star.

An Heirloom

By Martha McCulloch-Williams

(Copyright, 1912, by Associated Literary Press.)

"Blessed be hobbie skirts," Allison ejaculated, surveying her slim lithe-ness in the long mirror.

Rose, her sister, laughed softly, as she returned: "Better say blessed be flesh! If grandad hadn't weighed near three hundred, you'd never get a skirt out of his Sunday best black broadcloth trousers."

"Don't you dare! If one breathes real loud in this village folk are sure to hear," Allison adjured turning to look at herself over her own shoulder. "And the gossips would say sacrilege rather than thrift. I'm sure grandad himself would approve--dead this ten years, what harm can it do to have his left-over clothes help us round a hard corner?"

"None in the world," Rose assented merrily, adding with a touch of wistfulness: "It is so hard--our stock passing dividends, just at this special time. We could do so much with that five hundred we haven't got."

"And other people doing all sorts of things. This town is going to be real giddy," Allison answered, sighing at the end of a giggle. "Three weddings already announced--that means at least a dozen parties of sorts--luncheons not counted."

"And tableaux for the Missionary society, and two Germans if no more," Rose chanted.

Allison took up the chant with, "And three strange--very strange--young men a-coming to the weddings--and likely to stay on awhile with their kin. Rosy-posy, I tell you, it's distinctly hard lines. A new party frock apiece is the most we dare hope for--and even they spell a month without butter. Praise be, you didn't make that new melton last fall--you would hardly have put it on, with Aunt Anne so ill. But whatever we would do if you hadn't thought of grandad, I surely don't know. Really, I believe, though it sounds like magic, I'll get a swaggar outfit from his suit."

"He wore it only once--poor dear," Rose sighed. "And he was always particular as to his clothing. I wish we dared spend a little for touches of color--though you can stand all room just as Allison, scissors in hand, made to begin snipping the fine hand-set stitches. She had slipped a ki-mono over the unfinished frock she had contrived--the short coat, which would be new and jaunty by and by, hung raw and limp over the back of a chair at her side. All about was the litter and disorder inevitable to close contriving. Rose stood gazing at her sister--both were too intent to note the opening door. Suddenly Allison's hand fell--she held the waistcoat away from her, saying in a choked voice: "Rose--take it--back I--I--somehow I can't spoil it--it feels as though it would be spiritual murder."

A hand fell upon Aunt Anne's shoulder--a soft hand, heavy with rings and only faintly wrinkled. It drew her back, leaving the door a little ajar. Very shortly the owner of it was saying, hushing Aunt Anne's sobs the while:

"To think you wouldn't come to me, your oldest friend. Anne dear, I'm ashamed of you--you know your girls feel almost as though they were mine. But your pride has had its reward. Not many girls under the conditions would forego as nobly as our Allison. Don't tell her and Rose we overheard--not yet, at least. It would hurt them to know we knew. But you are going to be sensible, and let me advance you those delayed dividends. Also, you are to remember, cabs are a wicked extravagance when one has friends with cars, and next to nobody to fill them."

At that Aunt Anne cried harder than ever, but after a little agreed meekly to do as her friend bade. The friend, Mrs. Norris Lane, a rich widow, childless, with two adored and adoring nephews, was unobtrusively, the great lady of Charlotte town.

Perhaps there was no direct sequence of events--but people began to notice early in the season that Lane Norris and Howard Lane, the great lady's nephews, were mighty attentive to the Agnew girls. Rose and Allison felt as if they had found a fairy godmother--all at once. Aunt Anne had ceased worrying--she had only smiled mysteriously, and told them things were not so bad as they had threatened to be. Then at Christmas she surprised each of them with a dainty new gown--to which Mrs. Lane had added all the other things--gloves, fan, slippers, silk stockings, and cobweb kerchief. Allison was not able to say thank you, for the lump in her throat. Even Rose had to turn away her eyes. And that night, hand in hand, they told Aunt Anne of their plotting--and what had withheld them from carrying it out. She patted their bent heads, saying as tears dropped upon Allison's bright hair:

"It would have been murder, dear children--murder of something in yourselves--reverence for family ties and traditions. I am glad indeed you made the blank frock--much better use the cloth than let let moths ruin it in the end. But the waistcoat means something--it is a sort of patent of nobility. Only fine gentlemen wore such garments--"

"I know," Rose broke in. "And we came near showing we didn't deserve to belong to him." Then the two ran away to make ready for a very late party. Aunt went, too. And as she came away she had the happiness of sealing with her approval a fumble betrothal.

REMAINS TRUE TO INSTINCT

True it is That a Sheep May Become a Wolf, but Never a Wolf Becomes Sheep.

One Sunday at the house of Anatole France, they were talking of the admirable romance he had just published. "The Gods are Thirsty." M. Paul Souday expressed in the warmest terms the enthusiasm with which this work had inspired him. Above all he vaunted the character of "Evariste Gamdin," whom a false revolutionary philanthropy had transformed from a bleating sheep to a devouring wolf.

A Russian lady, who was present, said she knew of wolves that had become sheep. "The Prince Troubetzkol," she said, "has two of them. He brought them from Russia. They had been tamed and he led them in a leash like greyhounds. You know that he is a vegetarian. He has imposed this diet upon his beasts. He feeds them vegetables and salads."

"In fact," then said Anatole France. "I met him the other day with his wolves of which you speak, in the street. He had stopped before a fruit stand and he was plundering a basket of carrots to regale his beasts."

"That is an excellent example for vegetarianism," said the lady. "Seduced by such an example, I acquired a wolf and fed him myself. But I feared that he would fade away. But as I did not intend to renounce my vegetarian ideas I continued to make him nibble fruits and roots in public while at home, secretly I gave him fresh meat. In this way I was able to keep him for some time. He died a while ago. I do not understand how Prince Troubetzkol succeeds in keeping his wolves. I suspect he employed the same method as myself."

In short," said Anatole France, "one often finds sheep that become wolves, but never wolves that become sheep." --Le Cri de Paris.

"I heard him talking in his sleep and some of the language he used was exactly the same as that which he employs at a baseball game."

ELEPHANT KEPT THEM AWAKE.

His Highness Got On a Rampage and a Good Many Thought Their Time Had Come.

The people of Clyde will not forget the circus they had last Friday night.

The elephant got miffed about something when he was brought into the ring to do his tricks, and his keeper had to take him out and put him up and give him peanuts and other good things to eat several times before he would go on with his stunts. Although he went through them all right, he was still mad when the show was out, and when the people saw the big fellow with heavy chains on and his feet chained to step only so far apart, it was indeed alarming.

The circus men stayed up all night with the burly, cross old fellow, and by morning had run many miles with him up and down Clyde's main street.

The negroes of the circus nearly wore themselves out singing songs to him, for that quieted and soothed his madness more than anything that was done.

A good many people in Clyde stayed up all night, too, for they did not know just how soon the beast might succeed in breaking his chains.

It's funny to stand off at this distance and think about those fellows singing the elephant into a good humor and the others running their legs off keeping up with him, but it wasn't funny them, as the Clyde people found out.

RUNAWAY VICTIMS BETTER.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan McQuinn Ahe Improving Nicely From Their Injuries.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan McQuinn of near Clyde, who were hurt Sunday morning about 10 o'clock, when their team upset their buggy, are getting along nicely.

Mrs. McQuinn was able to answer the phone call Tuesday, although she is suffering from a broken rib and bruises. Mr. McQuinn was able to be around about his farm duties, although he also has painful bruises.

Their 3-year-old son was only bruised a little and the other two children, 5 years and 6 months old, were not hurt.

BEST TO AVOID MUSHROOMS

Really Have Little Value as Sustenance and There is Always Danger of Poison.

There are in this country more than one hundred edible species of mushrooms. The popular distinction between mushroom and toadstool is one of name only. Many of the supposedly inferior specimens have proved on careful examination to be harmless, whereas some of those which bear an extremely close family resemblance to favored articles of diet are the carriers of danger in the form of exceedingly powerful poisons. Let him, therefore, who lacks the training requisite for the unfailing detection and identification of species carefully refrain from excursions into a field of uncertainty so fraught with danger. Mushrooms form an unusually nutritious and sustaining diet. A well-known botanist says that mushrooms might properly be called vegetable meat and used as a substitute for animal food.

It is doubtful, however, if this is true.

The more we learn of mushrooms the more it becomes apparent that they are scarcely different as regards dietary virtues from the general run of the green vegetables which have never achieved the distinction of any unique or superior nutritive properties. They belong rather to that large group of food materials which we consume for reasons quite apart from the body. --Journal of the American Medical Association.

HONEYED WORDS IN TUBES

How the Modern Spanish Swain Finds a Way to Overcome Serious Obstacle.

In Spain, as is well known, a vigorous etiquette governs the business of love-making. A young man cannot interview his sweetheart without her parents' consent, and, indeed, all conversation openly carried on between the couple must be in the presence of the fair one's mother.

Many subterfuges are adopted by the lovers to overcome this difficulty, and the "reja"--the ornamental iron-work on the windows of Spanish houses--has become one of the favorite trysting places. Modern life, however, has imposed fresh barriers. If a young man's sweetheart lives on the third floor of a city building he cannot very well meet her at the "reja."

In this, as in other spheres of life, necessity is the mother of invention. London answers remarks, and some ardent lovers have brought speaking tubes to their assistance. The senior, at the appointed hour, lowers this to her lover, and they are thus able to carry on their love affairs with the assurance that they are not overheard by the people on the intervening flats, as would be the case if the conversation were carried on without such aid.
